STEPHEN J. MILLER

Mr. Stephen J. Miller is director, Acquisition Center of Excellence (ACE), Aeronautical Systems Center (ASC), Air Force Material Command (AFMC), Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Ohio. He provides acquisition, engineering, and technical expertise to ASC programs to help them rapidly deliver weapon systems to the war fighter. His key responsibilities are to provide cradle-to-grave program support, be the Commander's change agent for agile acquisition, champion innovation, and remove program and process barriers across functionals.

Mr. Miller has held several acquisition positions throughout his career, he has served in the logistics management and configuration/data management areas as well as the deputy director for many of the programs managed by the Aeronautical Systems Division and later the Aeronautical Systems Center here at Wright-Patterson AFB. In his most recent position Mr. Miller served as deputy director, Special Operations Forces, System Program Office. Mr. Miller became director of the Acquisition Center of Excellence in March 2002.
